The magic book

by: Aldo Francisco Saucedo Ravizé
Frank is six years old, one day riding his bike he finds a book on the sidewalk. Looking in the book, he discovers fantastic stories. Sometimes he is in a big ship and others in a train, where he travels to different places.
Frank is fascinated with the reading but at the end, the book has a name “Denis Wonder”. The boy remembers his mommy saying, “If something is not yours, you have to return it”.
Frank decides to look for Denis. He goes to him and knocks at the door. A shy boy appears and then he says, “Hello I'm Frank. Are you Denis Wonder?”. “Yes, I am”, answers the boy. “Is it your book?”
Denis very happy says “My magic book! Thanks for being honest and for bringing my book”.
Frank and Denis are now friends. Every afternoon after playing, the children enjoy reading the wonderful book.

Me and my owner

by: Daniel Molina Molina
Hi! My name is Tripita. I am a puppy. Let me tell you a story about me and my owner Daniel, the boy who rescued me. He is my super hero.
To start, they call me Tripita, because when my owner found me, I was so so skinny. I looked like a string. I was very sick and very dirty and I had no name.
When I was born I had a very bad owner who threw me away when I was only a little baby puppy. Daniel found me on the street. He took me and gave me lots of food and love.
Thanks to him I am now a big strong puppy. I wish more people would be nicer to animals like Daniel. All animals need to be taken care of and be respected.
I hope the next time you play with your pet you remember how important we are! But most of all how important you are to us!

THE NEW PLANET

by: Cecilia Denisse Morà García
One day at the universe came a new planet called Nautico.
“Nautico is smaller than me” said Mercury.
“Hello, my name is Nautico. Do you know my uncle the sun?” , he asked.
“Of course, it’s me”, said the Sun.
“Hello uncle, my mother sent me here on vacation”, said Nautico.
The Sun looked at him and said. “Ok nephew be comfortable, there's a huge universe to explore”.
Nautico turned around and saw some planets. He asked. “Uncle, who are they? And what is your relationship with them? “They are planets”. The Sun introduced them, Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto.
The Sun asked Nautico. “Would you like to take place next to the Earth? She will take care of you. She is very nice and friendly. She always protects who live in her. Long time ago, she was sick because her people were contaminating her. Fortunately, they changed their habits. Now, they love and protect her. Look at her; she is the most beautiful planet in the whole universe.”
Nautico said again. “Uncle but you didn't tell me, how are these planets related to you?”
“Look my little nephew; they are nephews, nieces, and grandsons and they live with me” said the Sun.
Mercury felt jealous because the Sun gave special attention to Nautico.
He told him “Can you be quiet? I don't think you can understand anything. You are smaller than an asteroid and I doubt you are intelligent”, He laughed at him.
The sun, who is very wise, told Mercury that it wasn't a good behavior. The next day, Mercury said hello to everybody. Jupiter got closer and gave him an advice. In this moment, Mercury understood his mistake. He decided to do something.
Mercury told Nautico. “Please forgive me, I was wrong.”
Jupiter gave me an advice. “Being big or small doesn’t mean you are more or less important. It is your interior what matters.”
Nautico said. “Thank for your words”.
When the Sun heard Mercury's apologies, he felt very happy. He said: “Planets please take your places, it's time to celebrate”.
And then, the Universe began to shine with the stars' light.
FAIRIES
by: Diana Lisset Sánchez
Once upon a time, very far away from humans, a group of fairies lived in a forest.
One day, a special fairy appeared. She was new in that place. Her name was Susan.
Susan said hello to everybody, but all the other fairies ignored her except Emily. She was the only one who was friendly. They ignored her because her wings were different in color.
Everyday, they used to get away from the others, and lay down in the grass. They had so many things in common. They both liked candies, ice cream, and having great adventures.
One day she and her best friend were in the pond. They saw Lucy, Ricky, and the other fairies. Then the water started moving. Suddenly something big, green, and with sharp teeth got out. It was a crocodile.
Susan was going to help them. “And if they don’t accept you for who you are?” “That doesn’t matter. They’re in danger”, Susan answered.
“Don’t eat them!,” Susan shouted.
“I didn’t want to eat them. I just wanted to be their friend, but they always get away because I’m ugly”, the crocodile replied.
In the afternoon, they all sat around the pond and started discussing about each others differences. They all apologized. They ended being great friends and lived happily ever after.
Dog's heaven

by: Fatima Litai Cantú Román
My uncle Dany gave me a puppy as a birthday present. When I came back from school my dog was waiting for me.
We like running, jumping and playing together.
She was funny. One day she decided to jump from the staircase. I think that she wanted to fly.
I think she did it and now she is in dog’s heaven with all the special dogs. I miss my dog; beautiful dog.

THE HONEST FAMILY

by: Gabriela Alejandra Salinas Bautista
Once upon a time a little family (Mom, Dad and two boys) went to the supermarket to buy food.
When the parents were in the supermarket, they began to choose the food and things, but never saw what the boys were doing.
The family was in the car, when the parents discovered that the boys had some things they did not pay. The parents said: 'This action isn’t good'.
They talked with the store manager to pay the products and the boys said: “We’re saddened; please excuse us. We will never do it, again”.

The water is life

by: Joaquín Alberto López González
Once upon a time there was a boy called Luis that lived in a hut in the forest.
Every Sunday Luis went to fishing in a river that was near to his hut, but that day he found a lot of trash in it.
A little fish told him, “There are just few fish here. Many of us are dying because of the pollution in the river.”
“Oh no! How can I help the river to be just as before, and to make people respect nature?, The fish said. – “Tell your friends to help cleaning the river and take care of nature. If everybody helps we can do it.”
Finally, all the boys that lived near that place helped to clean the river. And it was like before.

The sad forest

by: Alessandra Villarreal Jiménez
Once upon a time, many beautiful Animals lived in a forest, such as: a rabbit, a baby bear, birds and a butterfly.
The humans used to throw trash. They made bonfires and took fruits from all of the trees.
One day the rabbit wanted to give a lesson to the humans and it talked to the trees and with the birds.
Next morning there was a big surprise. The trees did not give fruits any more and the birds did not sing too. The forest looked so sad and humans asked, “Why?”
A human discovered the reason why the forest was unhappy. It was because of the human’s fault.
The animals and the humans made a deal: They had to take care of the forest and respect it. And they lived happy forever.
